NOTE FOR THE DIRECTOR

SUBJECT: National Intelligence Collection
Systems

Attached for your reference is a notebook which presents in summary form the collection activities of the national intelligence community. The statements describe the methods and systems by which raw information is obtained for the intelligence analysts who produce national intelligence. Also included are summary statements concerning planning activities under way as regards collection programs.

The descriptive statements have deliberately been kept brief, but there is enough detail to provide both a survey and a reference from which you can request such additional detail as you may need.

I hope you will find these materials useful.
